EXTREME ROSE

EXTREME COLLECTION

Rose essential oil, also known as attar, is made from the Damask Rose (Rosa damascena) or the Cabbage Rose (Rosa centifolia). Because the oil is so concentrated, it’s diluted before it’s used commercially. A rose’s petals contain its perfume, although some stamens smell of musk or cloves. Usually roses of the same variety don’t smell exactly alike; scent isn’t always predictable.

Rose breeder David Austin says, “We never quite know what we are going to get,” even though his company has been working with roses for 50 years.

THE FRAGRANCE

Extreme Rose is a celebration of roses in a bottle which is designed by Louis Varel, the roses are mixed with toffee and vanilla to leave a remarkable print all over the places.

Top Note: Orange, Lemon & Toffee.

The beautiful white color, with the pink design, is a symbol of cheerful and happy moments in our lives.

Mid Note: Rose, Patchouli oil & White Wood.

Extreme Rose is an attractive scent which composes sweet oriental notes on a rosy background.

Base Note: Amber & Vanilla.
